RE: Upcoming Floor Vote on House Bill 75

Date: October 2, 2019

Ohio is one of the few states in the country where real property value can be challenged by a third party. For example, a local jurisdiction such as a school district can contest the real property valuation set by county auditors, in pursuit of generating tax revenue. This process is largely occurring without official action from the school board, the elected officials who are ultimately accountable for such challenges. Moreover, these school districts can take this action without the property owner being fairly notified.

While the Ohio Chamber would prefer that a legal challenge to the taxable value of real property could only be initiated by the property owner, HB 75 at least codifies a process that requires formal action by a local governing body or school board at a public meeting before a valuation complaint can be filed. HB 75 also includes language that requires notification to the property owner before adoption of the resolution. The notification will provide the property owner a chance to be involved in the public meeting before a resolution is adopted. This notification requirement adds transparency to the process, which is lacking in the current process.

The Ohio Chamber of Commerce believes these simple, commonsense changes will restore a level of accountability and fairness to the process, which is certain to help Ohio's businesses. The taxing entity will still have the right to file for a change but will do so now in a more transparent manner.

We urge your favorable vote on this bill when it is up for approval by the House. Please be aware that your vote on HB 75 will be a Key Vote reflected in the Ohio Chamber's General Assembly Voting Record.
