

INVEST IN ↑ INTEGRITY

KEY TALKING POINTS

- As a leader in Ohio's business community and as an Ohio Chamber member, I am disappointed in the recent events that have cast doubt on the integrity of the state's political process.
- Within state politics, bad actors – and bad actions – have been created from a process that too often is driven by self-interest, lacks transparency and is overshadowed by knee-jerk reactions to highly visible events.
- As trust in government remains low, it is the obligation of Ohio's business leaders to rise above the fray to provide both transparency and leadership when advocating on essential business issues.
- I am proud to be a member of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce – a trusted partner to the state's business community for the past 127 years. The Chamber provides insights of its members on critical economic, business, regulatory and legislative issues.
- Our policymakers should be held accountable to ensure they perform their duties in the public interest and not for personal gain. Sound and fair policy making matters to Ohioans and the future viability of our communities.
- Over the next several weeks, as we near the November elections, COMPANY NAME will be working with the Ohio Chamber to refocus on what integrity in government means for Ohio's businesses.
