COLUMBUS, OHIO – The below statement can be attributed to Ohio Chamber CEO Steve Stivers regarding Senator J.D. Vance being named former President Trump’s Vice-Presidential nominee.

“We were pleased today to learn that former President Trump has named Senator Vance as his running mate. Before his time in the U.S. Senate, Vance had a wide-ranging background that included serving our nation in the Iraq War as a Marine, being a best-selling author and owning a business dedicated to growing jobs and the economy. While in the Senate, Vance has served Ohioans by focusing on issues important to the state, such as introducing legislation to fund East Palestine health testing.

“Ohio has been an important player for over 100 years for presidential candidates on the road to the White House and today’s announcement shows that still holds true.

“It is smart to have the Republican Vice-Presidential Nominee born and raised in our great state, with an understanding of the issues that are important to Ohio and our business community.”
